12 Char checks her son's backpack each day after school. Sometimes he brings 28 home artwork. He is proud of his artwork. Char hangs it in the kitchen. Other days
43 he brings home samples of his writing. He also brings home short stories to read 46 with his mom.

46 Last week Char found something new in her son's backpack. It was a note 60 about parent teacher conferences. This made Char uneasy. School was never a 72 pleasant place for her. She does not have fond memories of it, yet she knows how 88 important a good education is for her son.

96 Char looked at the conference dates and times. None of the dates and times 110 worked for her. "I guess it won't work for me this time," Char thought. She read the 127 rest of the note. It said, "If you are unable to attend any of the conference times 144 listed, please call or email me and I will be happy to meet with you at another time," 162 signed Ms. Carlson, first grade.

167 Char wants her son's school experience to be better than hers. She knows it is 182 important to be active in her son's education. So, she called Ms. Carlson. The 196 teacher was happy to meet with Char before school. They scheduled a conference 209 for 7:15 a.m. Friday morning.
